Seventeen.

A year full of the vigor of youth;
 One which has captured the expectation, the exaltation, and the excitement of living.

A year to test and sample life;
 to gather fragments of everyday experiences to cherish.

And yet, in the midst of this,
 we have already begun to question our existence, for it seems that life has lost its sensible order of problem and easy solution, question and simple answer.

Instead, we are constantly faced with undiscovered frontiers, and like explorers in a strange new land, we have no map to guide us.

Julie had a lot of fun times together. I hope we see each other this summer. You see all right!
 Paul Dem

Julie,

Well we have survived a whole year of Donny - believe it or not! Always remember pecking at the — players and the janitors' room - and try not to wet your pants! Don't get mad at me for saying that. Have fun this summer but don't hustle up too many boes OK? Hope to see you in

What is really out there for me, and where is my place?

How does one individual like me fit into this collage of revolution, black power, student unrest, and "God is Dead"?

In a world where tradition is constantly being bent and reshaped, what is finally good or bad, right or wrong?

Or does everything lie somewhere in between?

Julie -

It's been great knowing you this year. Stay as sweet and cute as you are. Good luck. Hope to see you next year.

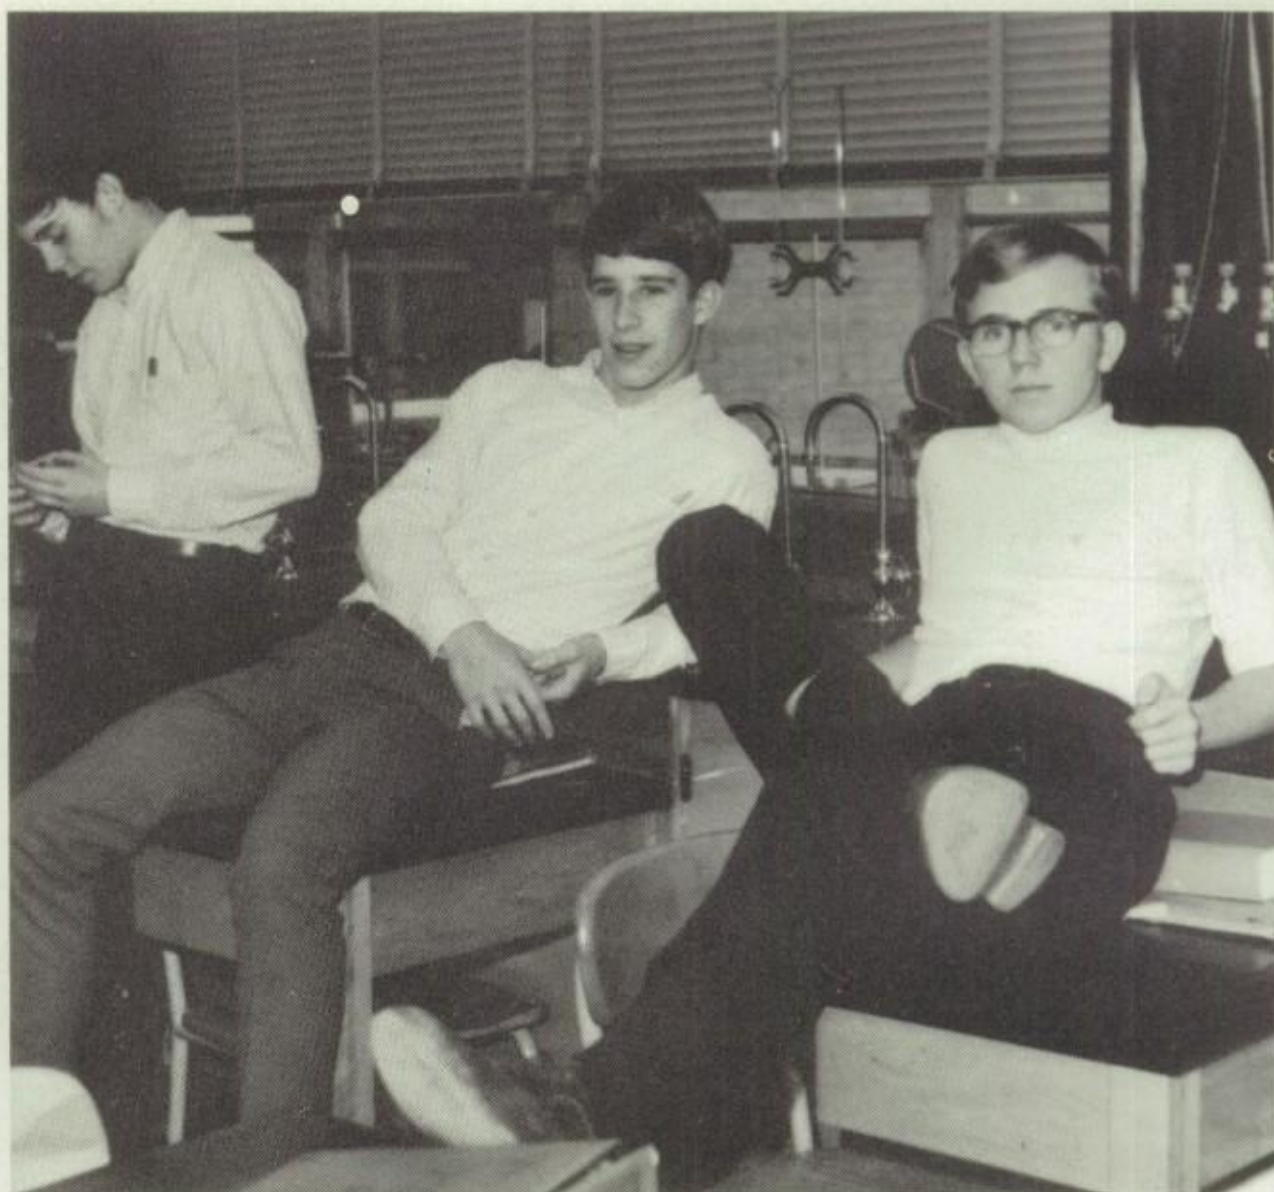

Barb
Markham

Can I better understand myself and my fears by exploring other people, or must I really understand myself first in order to truly see others?

And perhaps most important, what's inside of me that will give me the strength and courage that I need to answer
these questions?

Some voice inside of me seems to clamor that perhaps if I really knew what I was afraid of I could begin to dispel my fear.

And so as individuals, we all search; frantically seeking to label our fears:

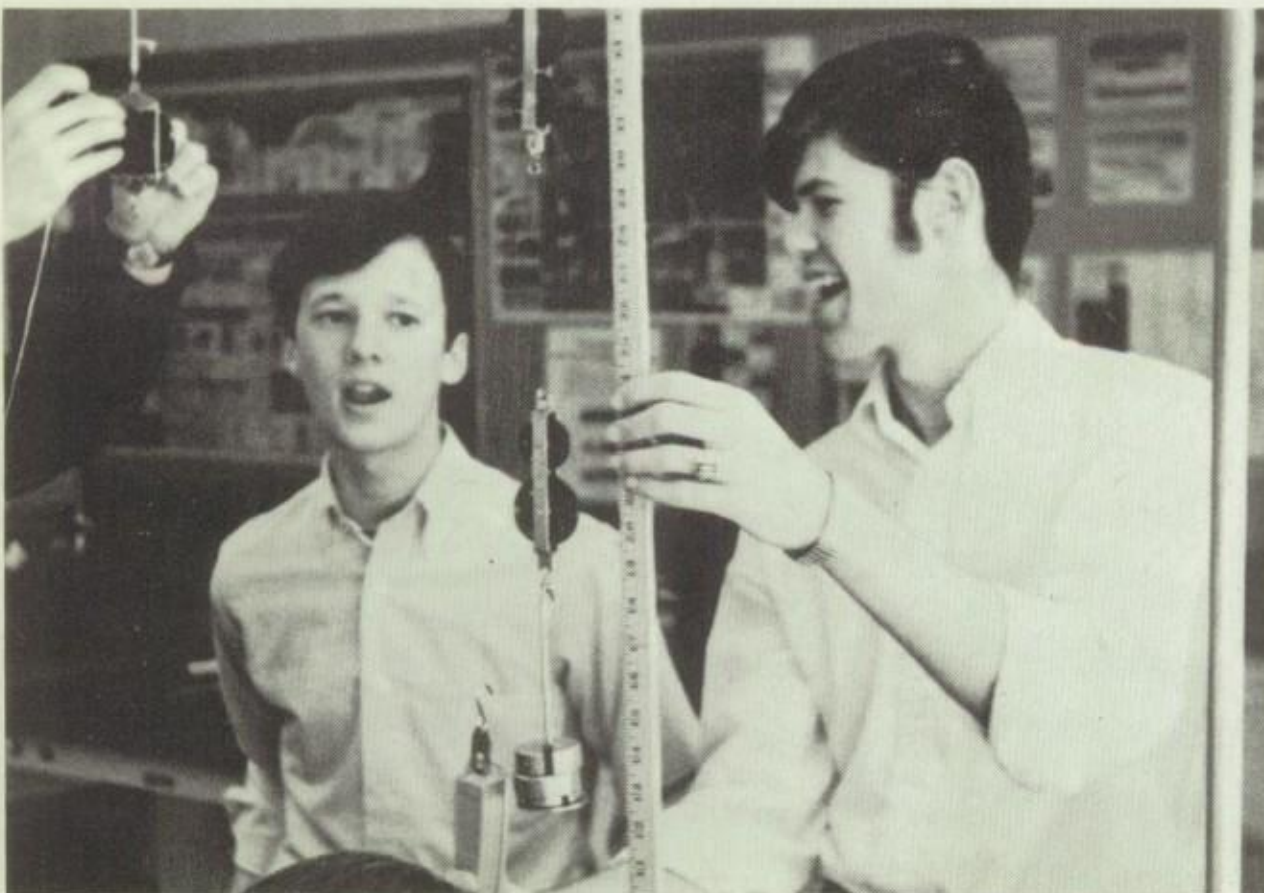

The fear that we won't ever really know why we're here; what special purpose each of us is meant to fulfill.

The fear that comes from failing to understand what those words really mean: brotherhood, peace, freedom, and love.

And most of all, the fear that man himself may destroy the world before he finds the definitions of those very words which may save him.

*Julie, we had a lot of fun in Hana cheerleading. You a social, sweet, cute, very glad & got to know you. Hope I get to see you this summer.
 Lots of love
 Bob*

Yet, at seventeen, we do not despair for in our eyes, the world is also young.

Instead, we look ahead with hope; hope that we may find some clue in others that will open our eyes to what is hidden in ourselves:

The potential strength and wisdom that will enable us to retain precious old values as well as perpetuate new ones, to seek new goals and strive to live according to our ideals in our new world.

Most of all, may we seek to discover ourselves, for only then can our hope become reality.

Theseus Reborn

In the midnight black Corridors of the mind,
Sprawling like a spread
Spider
Lies the Minotaur.

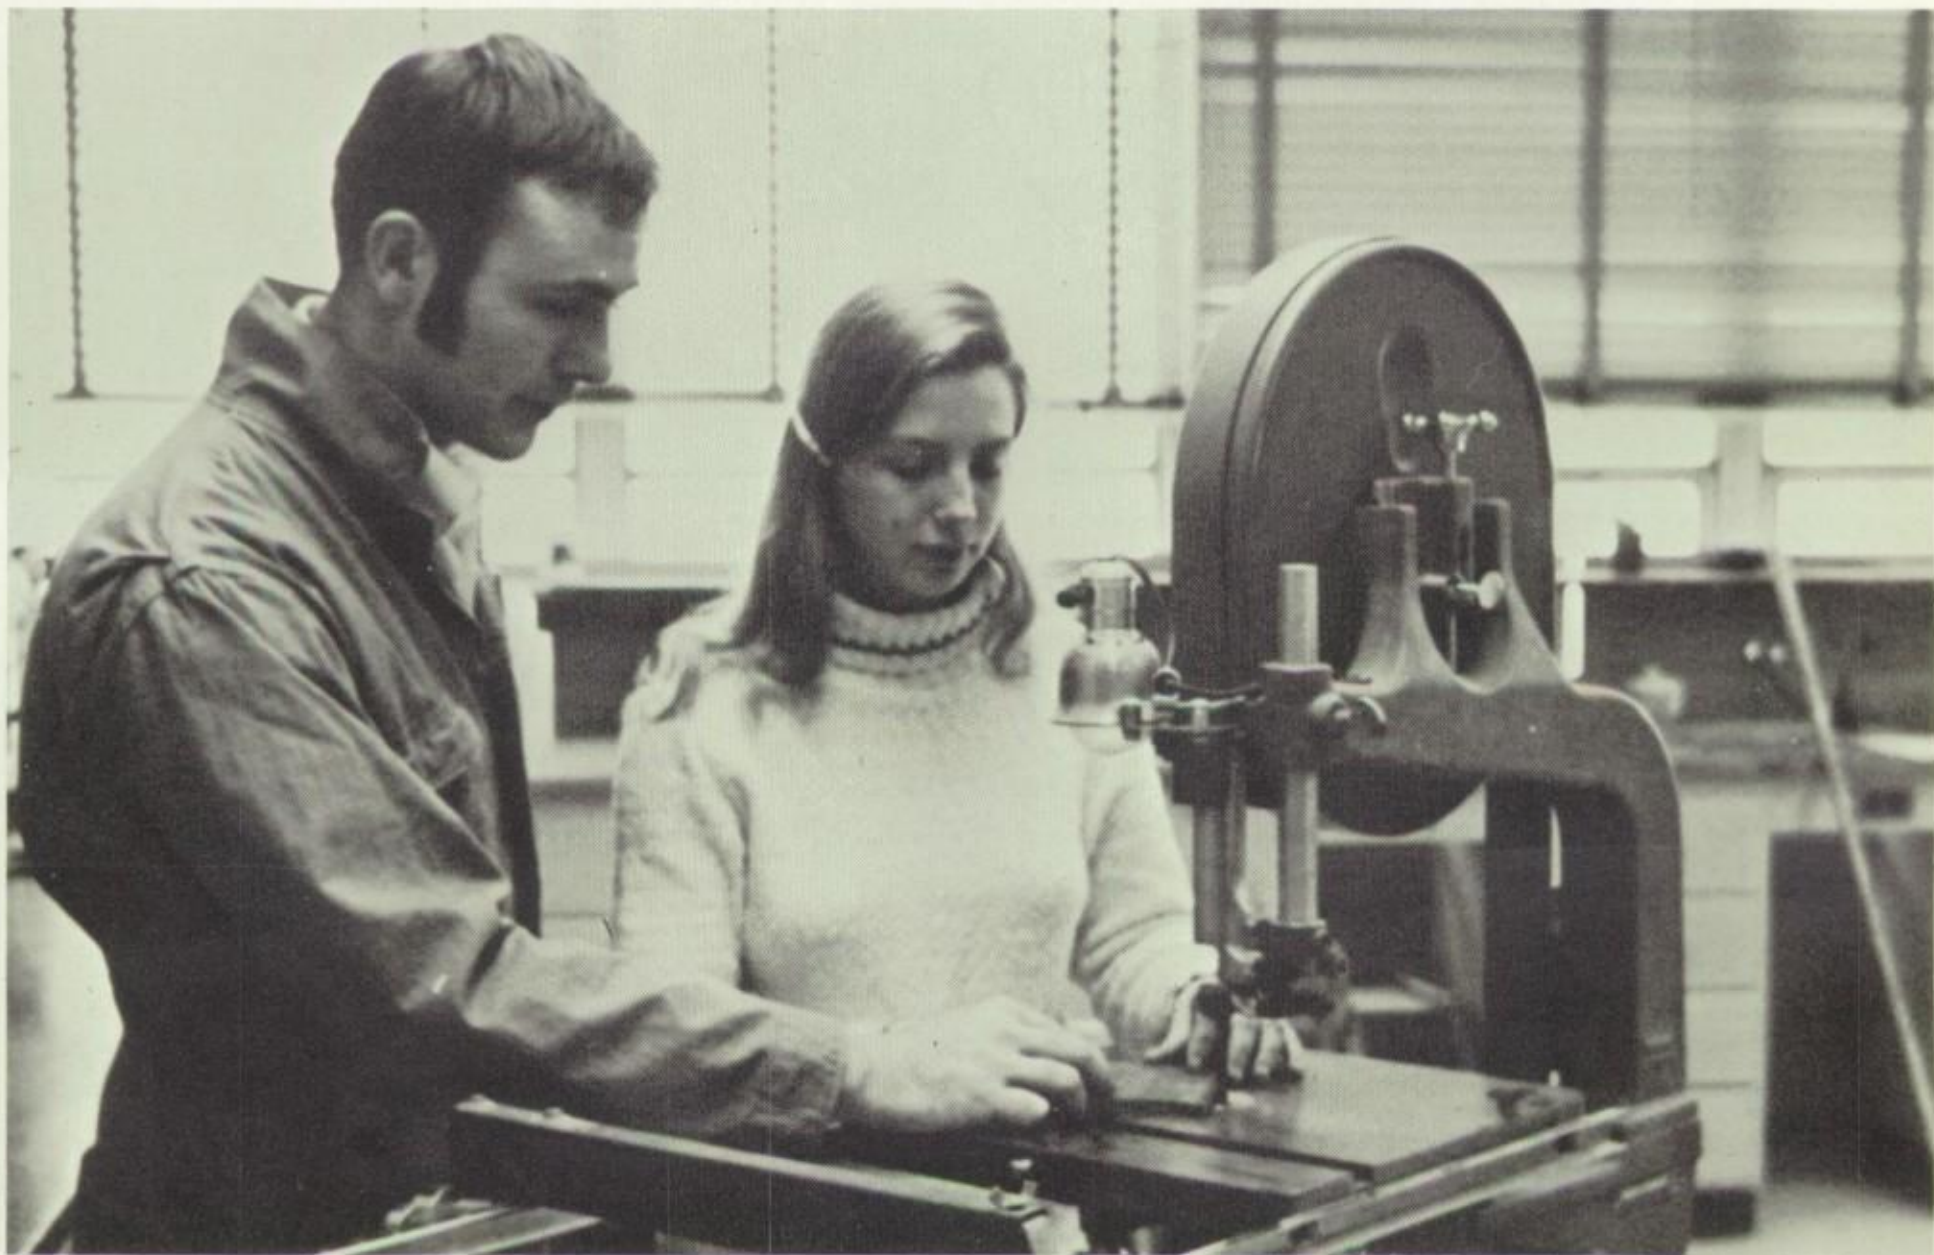

Together we defy and
Destroy this monster,
Ignorance.
Labyrinth unlocked, we

And set white sails
Toward another shore,

There to find another maze
And at the end
Another Minotaur.

The District Offices expanded into their new building this year.

DR. LLOYD NIELSON

This year, the district offices, formerly located at Ramsey, were moved across the street into a new building built on our beloved Sewer Hill.

As Curtis Johnson, principal, was very busy with his duties as President of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, Mr. St. Germain was made associate principal. A new comer, Mr. Gooding, was our new assistant principal, taking over the position formerly held by Mr. St. Germain.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Dr. Morris Nicholson, Treasurer; Mrs. Harriet Jordan, Clerk; Mr. Cortland Blomstrand, Director; Mr. George Seaburg, Chairman; Mr. John Pound, Director; Mr. Howard Wallin, Director.

English is a course required of students all three years at Ramsey. Goals this year in the English department were to introduce students to contemporary novels and to get them involved in outside cultural activities. Sophomores were required to read THE PEARL and CATCHER IN THE RYE. Juniors found new meaning in HUCKLEBERRY FINN and discovered the value of THE SCARLET LETTER. Seniors struggled through THE ILIAD, ANTIGONE, OEDIPUS REX, and SHAKUNTALA, with the help of their faithful Monarch notes. Many junior English students attended Artuo Ui at the Guthrie as Seniors enjoyed Shakespeare's comedy TWELFTH NIGHT.

The Social Studies Department at Ramsey in cooperation with the district worked on revising the whole scope and sequence of social studies this year. This involves elementary through high school grades and would mean a complete change in the social studies program if approved. The Social Studies teachers experimented with some new teaching techniques and offered their ideas for the plans of the new addition to be built. They planned a wing especially suited to the needs of the department. The American Studies teachers tried a new experiment this year; team-teaching. Mrs. Bone and Mrs. O'Loughlin; Mr. Mraz and Mr. Curtis Johnson worked together to see if this cooperative type of teaching would work. If successful, it may be used in the future. Newcomers to the staff this year were Mrs. O'Loughlin and Mr. Ted Johnson.

Communications Involves Languages And Speech

It's a melodrama—portrayed by Kevin Connor, Helen Hiatt and Mark Johnson.

Although the Speech department didn't have a chairman, they managed to get organized again this year. Speech class continued to give students a chance to practice speaking in public. Forensics offered experience in debating through contests held from October to March. The department this year was not limited to the old regulars. Two new semester courses were offered: Art of the Film and Understanding Drama. The Film course, originated and taught by Miss Berg, was set up to create an awareness of the media of the movies. Five to eight films were shown during the semester. Drama, created and taught by Mr. Hanily, exposed students to all aspects of drama. Ramsey, now has the distinction of being one of the few schools in the area with both Drama and Film courses.

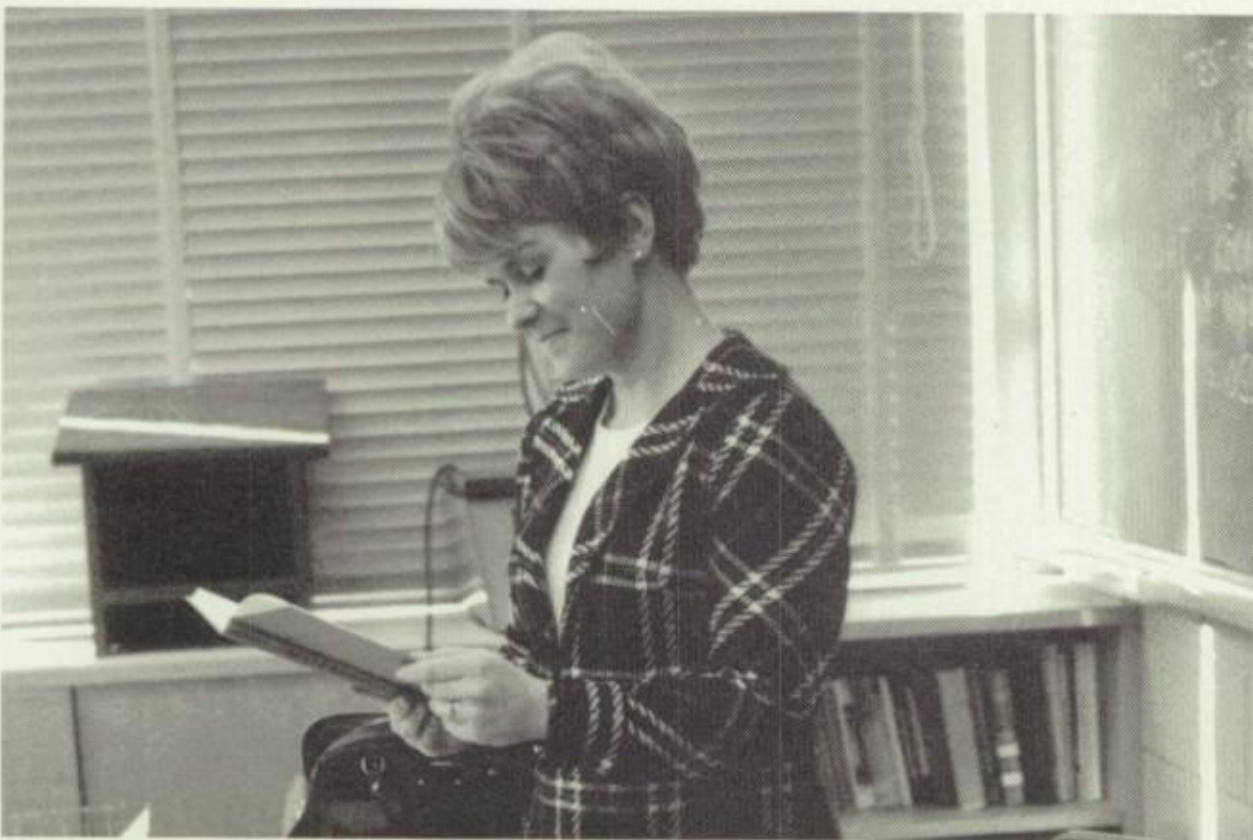

Miss Berg demonstrates her techniques of speech.

Mr. Robertson checks out his swimming team.

Mrs. Schroeder discusses the German play with interested students.

Miss Affolter lectures to her class in German.

Three new language teachers were added to Ramsey's staff this year to help balance the ever increasing number of students; Miss Affolter, Mrs. Zak and Mrs. Freiling. Not only grammar was taught in French, German, and Spanish classes. Besides teaching fluency in their respective languages, students enjoyed speakers, films, tapes, games, songs, and many other activities during class. In this way, students learned much about their country's customs and characteristics besides the language.

Also, many classes planned extra-curricular activities. Together, they attended plays, films, lectures or concerts connected with their specific language. All these generated interest in the foreign language.

MISS GAYLE AFFOLTER—German I,II.

Mathematics Deals With Relations Of Quantities

"Mathematics is becoming more and more important in our modern world." As math students, we have heard this many times. Ramsey's computer program gave students a chance to put their learning to use. Since February, we have had direct contact with the computer, enabling students to receive almost instantaneous results. Because the activity was so popular, it will become a one year course next year under the name of Statistics and Computer Science.

The three year testing and observing, to determine whether Algebra II or Geometry should follow Algebra I, was finally completed this spring. These results will be of great importance to the present mathematics curriculum.

Mary Weinhagen and Cheryl Ostergren receive help from Mr. Ireland.

Mr. Emahiser and Terry Backus are puzzled over a problem.

Science— The Branch Of Knowledge

MR. ROGER ALBRECHT—Chemistry.

MR. GORDON ANDERSON—Biology, Science Club.

Chemistry students showed experiments for PTA under the watchful eyes of Mr. Albrecht and Mr. Skogan.

MR. MAURITZ ANDERSON—Biology.

By carrying thick books, spouting complicated formulas and wearing goggle imprints on their foreheads, Ramsey's scientists could be easily spotted throughout the halls this year. But science was not kept within the books or the classrooms. Biology students were found investigating the woods for examples of the Plant Kingdom such as herbs and shrubs.

With numerous science courses in Biology, Chemistry and Physics, including P.S.S.C., the science department involves almost all of the students at Ramsey. Lab Assistants became an irreplaceable part of the department by preparing labs or correcting papers. This allowed the teachers more time to spend on lesson plans or helping individual students.

Through the use of films, class discussions and lab experiments, the formulas in the books became meaningful and brought us one step nearer to understanding the modern science used in our world today.

MR. JAMES CARLIN—Chairman, Physics, Baseball.

MR. THEODORE MOLITOR—Chemistry, Football, Track.

MR. WILLIAM ROSELIT—Biology, Chess Club.

Mr. McChesney textures a project for ceramics.

The art rooms continue to entrance Ramsey's amateur artists with their continuous display of sculpture, paintings, ceramics, and weavings. This artistic atmosphere induced students into more free, creative thinking. The art program at Ramsey is set up to give each student an opportunity to experiment, by personal involvement in areas that interest and challenge him the most. The art instructors organized the program differently this year. Instead of grouping classes by years, the Art I, II, III, IV concept, they taught according to subject areas. In one room painting and drawing was taught, in another jewelry and sculpture, and in the last ceramics and weaving. This allowed the staff to specialize in a certain area according to their major training and interest. New teachers this year were Mrs. Leuty and Mr. McChesney.

Pat Cunnien spends his fifth hours in the art rooms.

Mr. Clercx poses in front of one of his own works.

The Music department was very active again this year. The Girl's Glee Club and the Ramsey Choir gave, in December, a concert with songs of the season. Also, in the spring, the choir gave a performance of the "Chichester Psalms." This was the first performance of the work in the Twin City area.

The Orchestra, along with actors from the student body, put on a great performance of "Peter and the Wolf." They also put on their annual Pops Concert.

Besides the annual Spring Stage Band Concert, this band performed at the annual Variety show, the Homecoming and Snow Week coronation.

Members of the Pep band, taken from the Concert and Varsity bands, were seen at many athletic events throughout the year. They performed (for the first time, in their new uniforms) at home football games, during the fall. They also performed at home basketball and hockey games.

 MRS. MARILYN WEISS—Mod. Living, Food Management, Clothing, Cul. Arts.

Industrial Arts And Home Ec. Provide Variety

The Home Economics department offered a large choice of classes for boys and girls this year. As you walked through the hall, there was no doubt that cooking classes were being held. The tempting aromas of pizza, french toast, cakes and other foods made many a mouth water.

Besides cooking; sewing, family living, child development, interior design and clothing were just some of the courses offered.

The pre-schoolers who were seen in the building throughout the year were part of the students study of child development.

With it's excellent curriculum, the department provided many students the knowledge that they will need for everyday living.

Penny Rhoades works on her dress while Trudy Marston studies.

Cynthia Elliott sews up her suit for sewing class.

The Industrial Arts Department provided a well-rounded curriculum this year. Mr. Meyer, new to Ramsey, taught the graphic art programs. This was the first year that Ramsey had the facilities to make color prints, and their section should have a complete darkroom by the end of 1969.

The Electronics section, under the supervision of Mr. Winsor, had a variety of projects going on. Ming Shuie and David Reiland received a special commendation on their work on a Flame Speaker. The Electronics I section did a variety of projects and a special study on security systems. Electronics II studied the application of electricity and took field trips to Control Data, Remington Rand, KSTP, and Northwest Airlines. This year the Amateur Radio activity had about 20 participants and made radio contacts with many stations around the world.

The metal and wood shops were instructed by Mr. Dan Auld and Mr. Larold Peterson. The students in their programs learned advanced skills and built individual projects.

The drafting department taught their students the basic drawing principles and techniques.

Paula Lemke and Jean Horvath practice their shorthand.

Mr. Gomez makes a phone call.

This year, the Business Education department expanded their staff and revised some of their courses, making it possible that more students had a chance to participate in a better curriculum.

Miss Arlyn Legler joined the Ramsey staff this year, this was her first year of teaching. Graduating from Winona State College, she majored in business education. This year she taught typing, record keeping, office procedures and business machines. She also worked on the News Bureau.

The bookkeeping course was revised to include the study of data processing and computer equipment.

Also, two new key punch machines were added to the department. Because of the growing importance of computers in today's world, these machines were added to help the students become acquainted with modern business machines. The students in the computer activity also learned to use the machines to punch their own programs.

During the course of the year, banquets were held by leading companies for students. Other activities included recognition dinners, field trips to the stock brokers, tours and speakers. All these gave the students a chance to see what they had been studying, put into actual practice. With the variety of classes offered, students learned much of the business world.

Miss Brown doesn't believe it.

Jumping jacks, sit-ups and uniforms all became well known words to our sophomores. Alternating with health class, boys and girls alike learned new skills in areas such as volleyball, tennis and rhythms. And will any of them forget their sore muscles when trying to compete with the national records?

Sophomores weren't the only ones to keep in shape though. The Juniors and Seniors in Advanced Phy. Ed. daily recalled their skills learned in years before. Tournaments within the class provided competition for the girls as they set up teams, seeming to enjoy losing as much as winning.

The health curriculum was made more interesting by group reports and skits. Everyone became involved as parts for the red and white blood cells were given out. There is no doubt about it though, a day at Ramsey would not be complete without Phy. Ed.

Assistance Is Available In Many Areas

Mrs. Holste replaces literature for the coming student rush.

Again this year, the Ramsey library served all of its students well. But the abundance of books, old, new, reference, fiction were only useful because of the work of our librarians, Miss Hokanson, Mrs. Eddy, and Mrs. Holste. With the constant exchange of books, their jobs were endless.

Driver education, one of the most popular courses at Ramsey again offered classroom and behind-the-wheel training.

Mrs. DeWahl, our nurse, was new to Ramsey this year. Nevertheless she adjusted quickly and says she enjoys her work. Besides tending sick Ramseyites, she helped with the local shots offered to the students and was the advisor to the Future Nurses Association.

Again this year the Guidance Counseling staff proved invaluable to students in planning programs, tests, and college admission as well as offering many college representatives to meet with prospective students, thus giving them a better outlook for their future lives.

So incompletely
We almost wish to take it back for a moment. . .

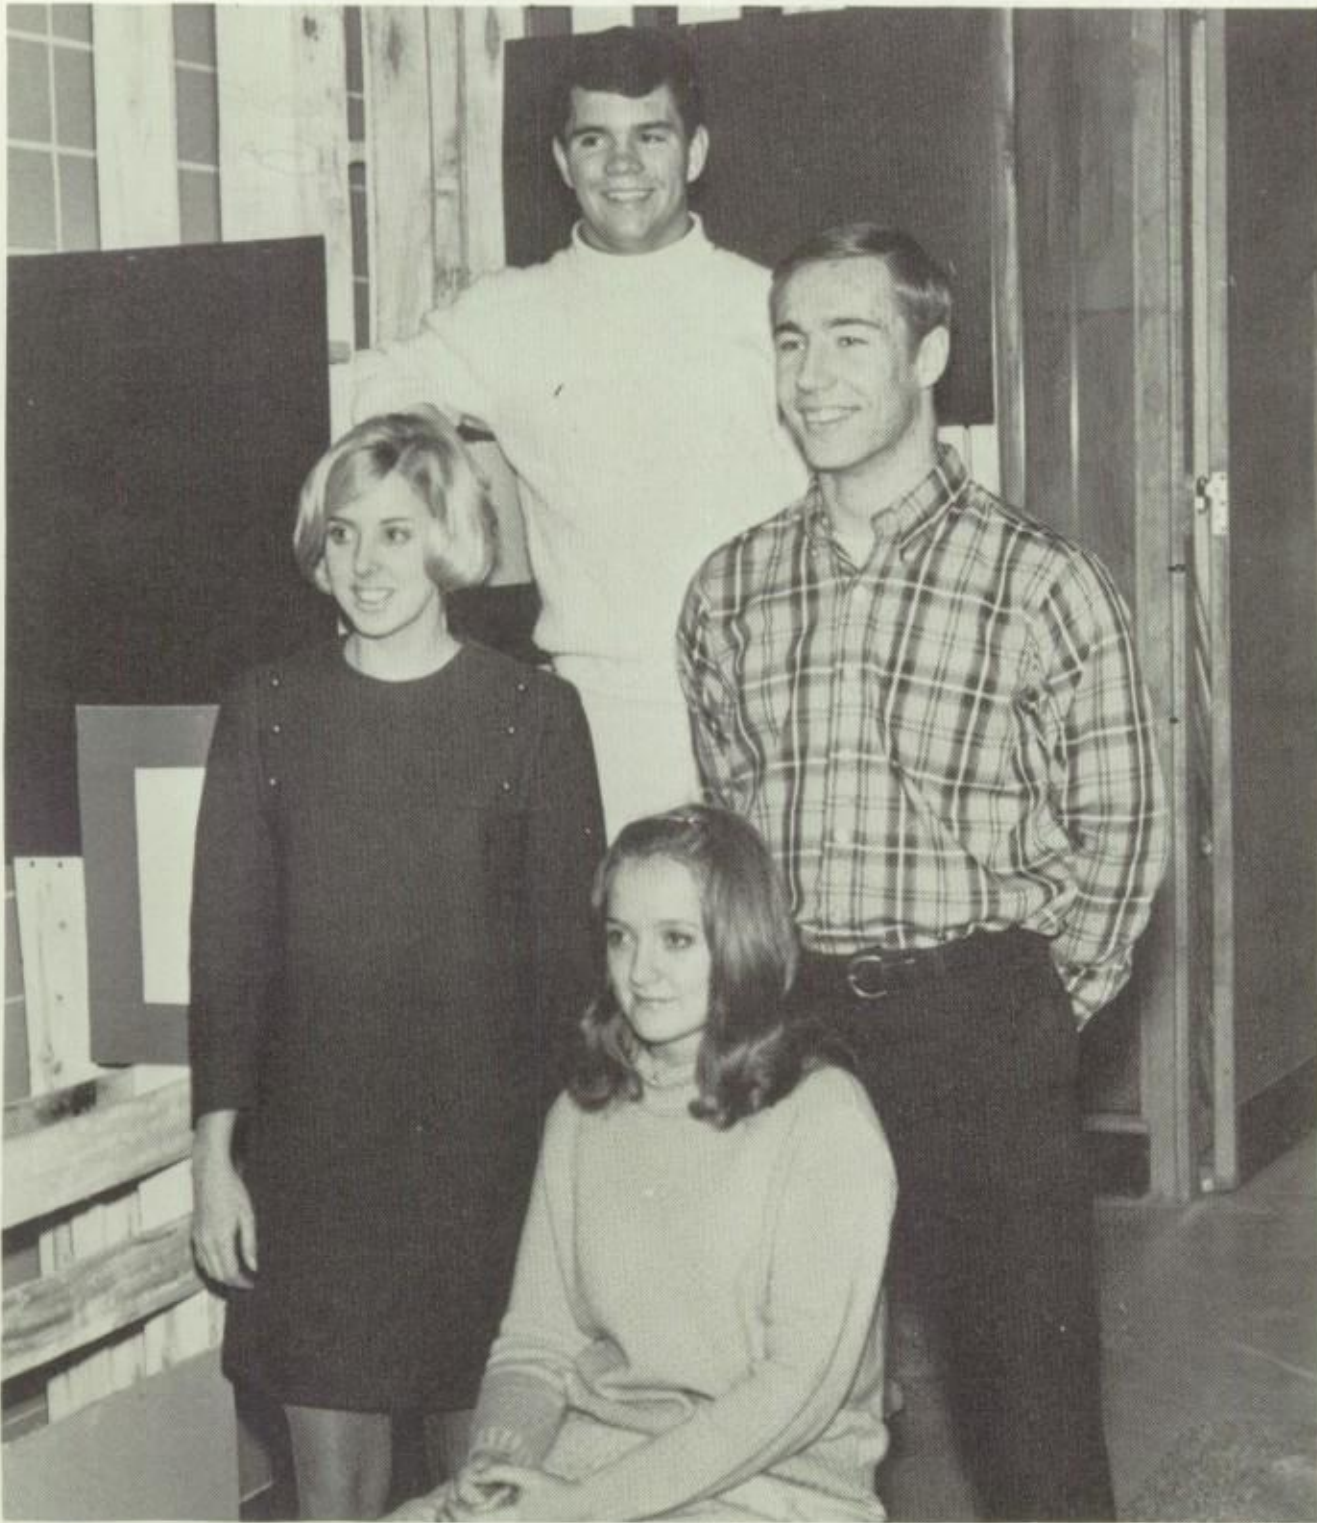

Yet a greater part is ahead.
Life to live, to love.
A world to see.
A freedom and independence so sudden and unique
We falter before we emerge—then take a giant step.

Julie,
 this bus is really queer. I'll never forget this. 1/2 awake and 1/2 asleep
 I walk on this bus to see you!
 Remember Pancake House, Bel-Rae, and this bus. This summer I want to see you in church okay (start the week off good) Sel ya at the beach. and I can when I get my license I'll have to do some thing always remember, P.S. Sorry

 But I'm on the bus
 okay.

UNDERCLASSMEN

The world
 meets our eyes and we must struggle to see the rhythm and rhyme
 of everything.
 The questions are found and asked through the marvel of why we grow.
 And as we grow we are filled with a growing sense of wonder.

only got 2 more years. (Your book smells) Just thought I'd put that in. It's really been fun in Biology (if it could be) and you'll have to do a

The Class Of 1970

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Dave Mortenson, President; Lynn Mann, Secretary; Kathy Olson, Vice-President; Dan Johnson, Treasurer.

The Junior class, the "in-betweens", were filled with mixed emotions this year. Although this was their second year at Ramsey, it was in no way a repeat of the first. Varsity sports, no rhythms, licenses, Huck Finn, class rings and MSAT tests were all a part of the Junior year. It started out with a first place in the annual paper drive which brought a W. C. Fields movie. Still in high spirits from that, they moved on to the Junior class play, Pool's Paradise, a three-act farce which was very successful. Class spirit was high as Mr. Mraz's seventh hour entered the snow-week broomball contest, only to be defeated in the finals. Mardi King and Duncan Kirkwood reigned during Snow Week. Even though money was a small problem, the Juniors still managed to put on a great Junior-Senior Prom. And guiding them through all of this were the class officers; Dave Mortenson, Pres.; Kathy Olson, V.-Pres.; Lynn Mann, Sec.; and Dan Johnson, Treas.

Class Of 69

SOPHOMORE SNOW ROYALTY: P. Hey, B. Beckermann, L. Phillips, S. Curley, M. Winters, D. Kath, K. Kilgore, B. Graiziger.

The sophomores had a head start getting into the swing of things this year. School for them began during the last week of summer vacation. While the juniors and seniors were out at the fair, the new Ramseyites were taking tests and trying to figure out how to get from 110 to 252. They came back later with the rest of us, school maps and room numbers memorized, to start off a great year at Ramsey. Sophomores will long remember their first Ramsey pep fest, working on their float (in between rolling houses), and seeing Ramsey beat Moundview at Homecoming. Sophomores were also introduced to the yearly plague of books to be read in English, such as GRAPES OF WRATH.

Sophomore "B" squad cheerleaders were chosen mid-way through the year and Bev Beckermann and Phil Hey reigned as sophomore attendants during Sno-Week. After cleaning up after the prom, sophomores, knowing they were finally done with rhythms and health, looked hopefully toward two more enjoyable years at Ramsey.

Sophomores become acquainted with the Ramsey tradition of buying and selling Cupidgrams.

Julie, it's been fun having you in Donny's class. Ha-Ha. He sure had fun (?) having fun this summer and hope to see you next year. -Tom-

I really had fun this year even though I didn't do it with you. Maybe next year as a junior I might catch up in fun time. The gap will never be filled but I'll fill some other gap. Have fun over the summer. Good Luck Bob Grainger

Total Involvement

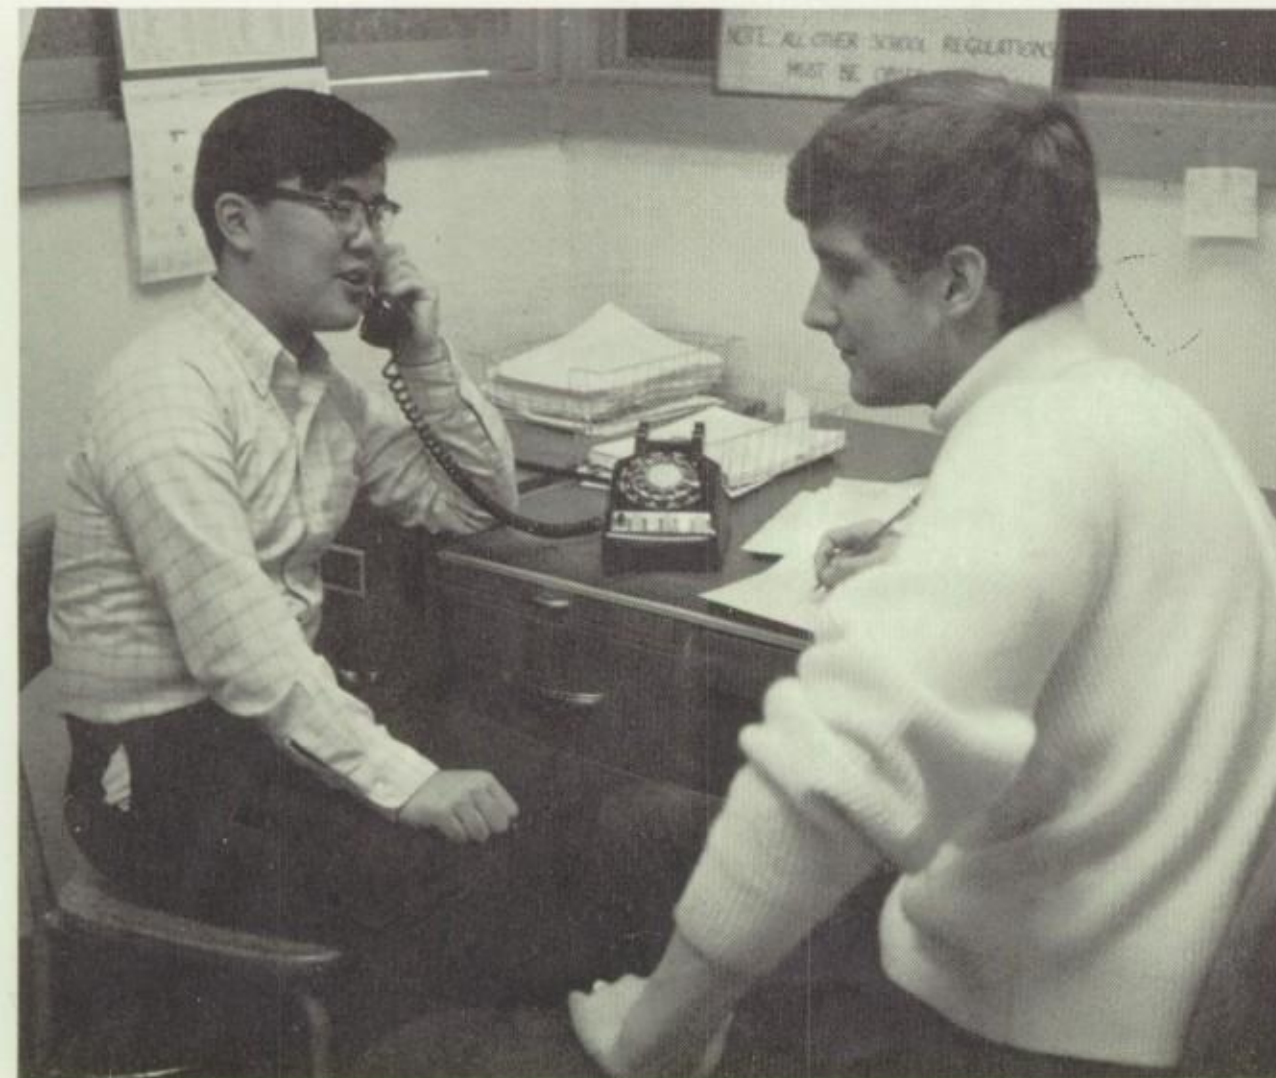

The theme of the Student Council this year was "Total Involvement." Under the supervision of Mrs. Johnson, Laurie Perman, and the executive board, the Council became involved in many varied activities. About twenty dollars was raised for the United Fund through the Leg of Ram contest and the class collections. The junior class won the paper drive, and was rewarded by a W.C. Fields movie. The Council sponsored a Biafran fast day, raising $347, from donated lunch money, for Biafran Relief. Snowweek, headed by Lynn Anderson, was bigger and better than ever this year with many new and varied activities for winter fun. Also, many members of the council supported the student body in their request for the "relaxed" dress code.

This year, under the supervision of Mr. Gooding, the Canteen Council arranged the dates for the dances and engaged the bands. Eight, ten, and twelve council members were picked by the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, respectively, from those who applied for the position at the beginning of the school year. Sadie Hawkins, the Christmas dance and the Sno-ball were all very successful this year. Besides working on the decorations for each of the dances, Council members checked coats, took tickets, sold refreshments and stayed after to clean up, leaving little time for dancing and having fun.

Would you like to know what I really want?

The debaters attended fifteen debate tournaments during the year. By providing speech competition, debate gave the students a chance to develop researching skills and practice in presenting material. The topic this year was: "Resolved, that the U.S. should establish a system of compulsory service for all citizens." With coaches Miss Berg and Mr. C. Johnson, the debate team had another successful year.

R.E.A.P. was involved in local and national politics this year. Mrs. Jerry Jenkins and Mr. Robert Bell gave a presentation this fall for all students. Also, the presidential candidate for the Socialist Labor Party came to speak. Col. Knight of the Selective Service and David Pence of the Draft Information Center gave their views on the draft system as it is today.

The Jr. Academy of Science offered all interested science students the chance to become involved with science, outside of the classroom. Individual tests and experiments were run during the fifth hour activity by members. When guest speakers were there, the entire school was invited.

The Ramsey Athletic Supporters, now in it's third season, popped up throughout the year in various activities. The boys brought in the third place homecoming float with "Can the Colts 45-0."

The Humanities

Thespians Club, made up of interested drama students or those interested in play production, was very active this year. Besides selling refreshments at both of our plays, and attending theater productions, the club presented a one act play as a contest entry.

This year, LeDraMusArt acquired its new name, The Humanities Lecture Series. Interested students participated in different areas of the humanities such as theater, music, and art. Field trips were made to community theaters, art galleries, and concerts.

French Club, Spanish Club and German Club actively promoted interest in their respective languages and in the cultural and social aspects of their countries. The group put on plays, brought in speakers, saw films and slides and even enjoyed a meal in a restaurant with "their kind of food".

Dear Friends,

It was very exciting to me, when I put my feet on the United States' land. Throughout my A.F.S. year, in each house I saw my home, in each person my friend, in each thing the word welcome. I want to tell you many thanks for your sacrifice that brought me to this country. This sacrifice for me and the other students revealed your dream: all together at the same time. Now I don't want to say good-bye, so I am going to repeat a verse which is very popular in my country. I leave you, but any day I will come again.

Sincerely yours,

Victor Manuel Collado Sánchez

Ramsey's chapter of the American Field Service was an active organization this year. As a fundraising club, they supported our exchange students by sponsoring such projects as the annual Variety Show, in which many Ramseyites participated, the Mardi Gras and Penny Wednesday. But A.F.S. was more than just a moneymaking club. Under the direction of Sharon Irish, President; Ginny Isaacs, Vice-President; Miss Affolter, the new advisor and the numerous committees, it brought in speakers on the A.F.S. program, or guests from other lands, who often times, brought many interesting films or slides.

This year, our two A.F.S. exchange students were Chris Falck, from Sweden, whose American sister was Sue Ring, and Victor Callodo, from Panama, whose American brother was Tim Johnson. These two, whose smiling faces were welcomed by everyone, brought the American Field Service's spirit alive in many Ramseyite's hearts. One can be sure that these two will be remembered at Ramsey and by her students for a long time.

Really Getting To Know All About Them

Victor Collado in Panamanian hat and shirt.

Dear Friends,

The year I spent here at Minnesota has been more exciting than I ever could have dreamed of.

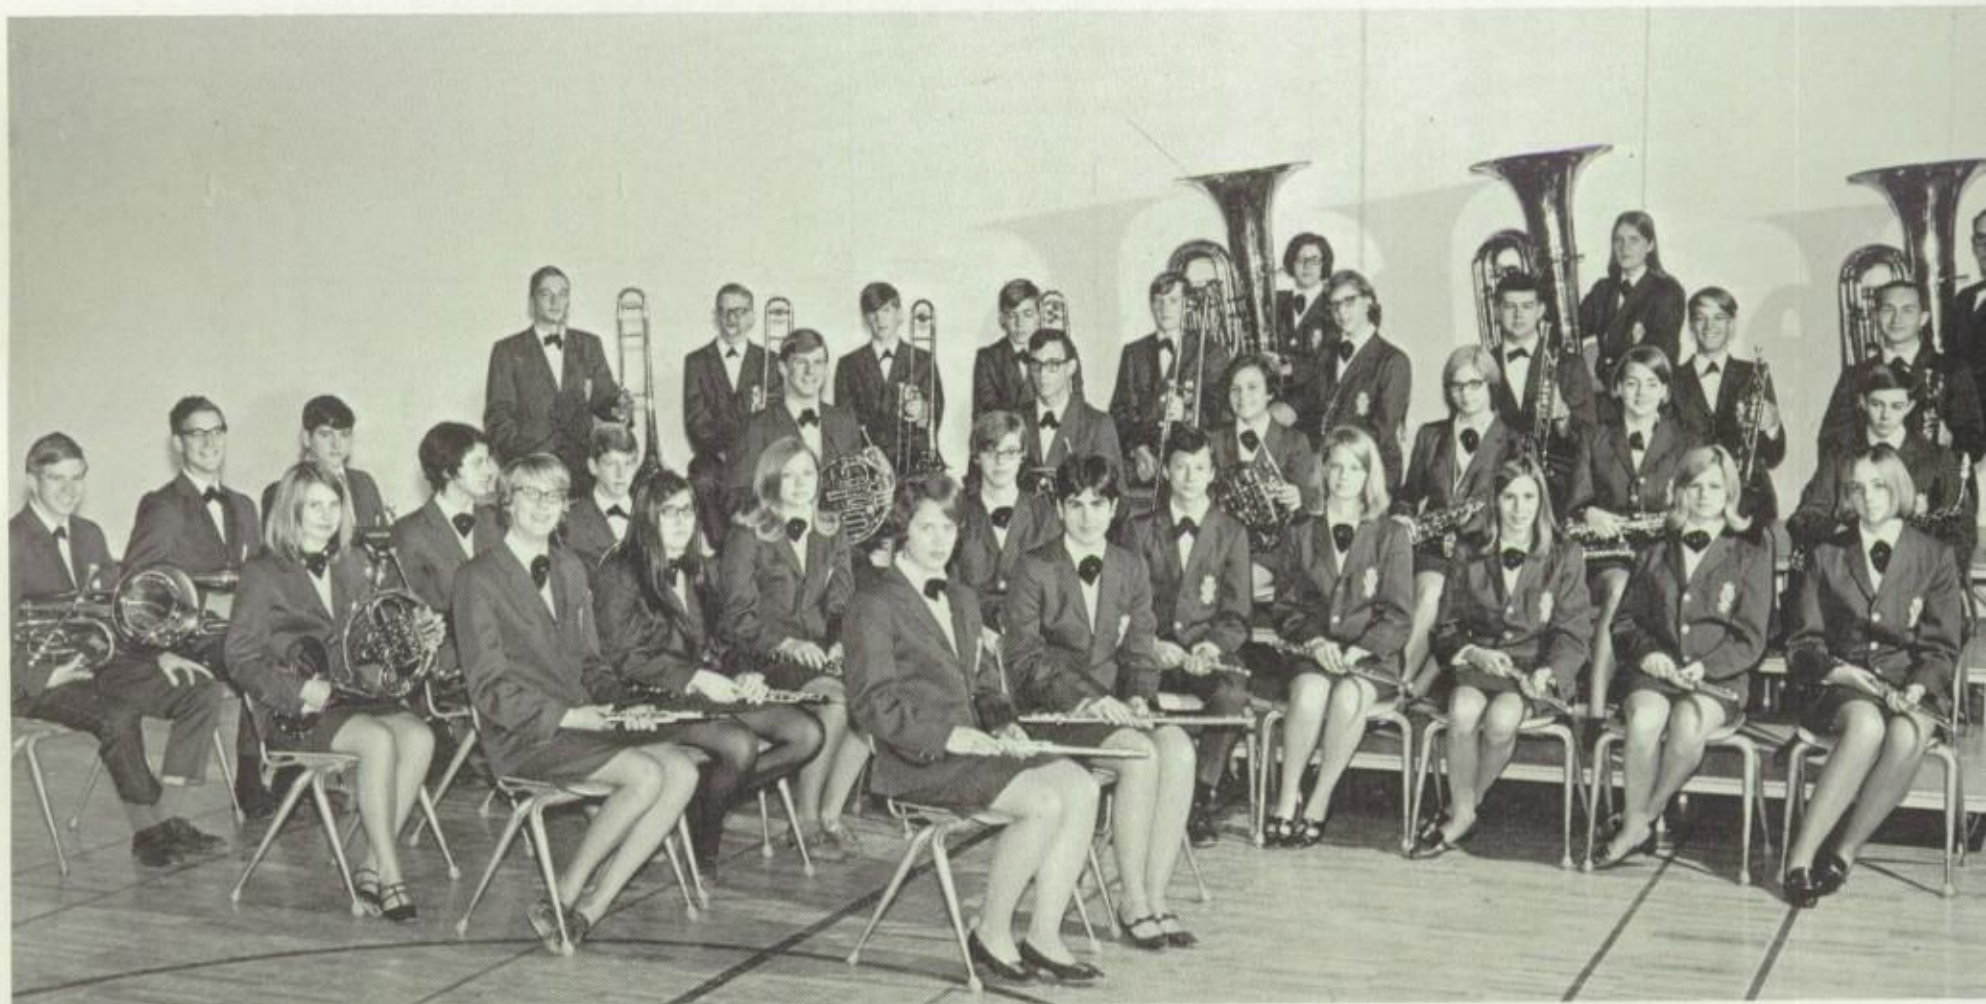

Never could I imagine the school life here at Ramsey to be different to what I have been used to in Sweden; different in the way that it is so much fun here. I'm going to the "extra" activities—all the football games where we creamed so many opponents. (Football does NOT exist in Europe!)—all the basketball games that were more exciting than anything else—the cheerleading, the band 'cause we have nothing of this in Swedish schools. Homecoming, Snowweek, etc., etc. Gee, everything has been a tremendous experience and I'm so happy to have been able to get to know you, Ramsey-ites. I have enjoyed learning at your school. One thing is for sure—You should be proud of Ramsey—I am!!

Thanks for everything,
Chris Falck

The Concert Band, under the direction of Charles Erickson, started out its year two weeks before the rest of the students with its annual marching band practice for football games. The duration of the year was spent upgrading the cultural standing of Ramsey's students with a series of concerts based wholly on the enjoyment of the student. The Concert Band rounded out its year by striving to claim the "A" rating in state contest that was rightfully theirs last year.

This year Stage Band performed at the Homecoming Coronation ceremony, at the AFS Variety Show, and gave its second annual Stage Band Concert. They also attended a Stage Band Clinic in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, where they competed against some of the top high school bands.

The Orchestra played along with the band in a series of concerts again this year, and also gave its annual "pops" concert, centering on a "Slavonic Rhapsody" theme. This year they had an added attraction, a short melodrama starring Ross Stone as the hero.

It was mighty cold during those early morning marching band practices!

“Chorale The Mustangs”

OK., fellas, let's really hear it.

ABOVE: Cindy Lambert and Julie Johnson in the choir's production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors". BELOW: Ed Vivian, Pat McGuiggan, and Steve Iverson as the three kings.

Under the direction of Mr. Brost, the Choir and Glee Club performed several times this year. The Choir gave its second annual performance of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" starring Julie Johnson as Amahl. They prepared the entire set themselves and with the help of the Home Ec. Department sewed costumes for the kings and themselves. Part of the program was financed by the first place cash prize received for their homecoming float. The program was performed before the public at Ramsey and Fairview.

Both the Glee Club and Choir presented a Christmas concert at Ramsey and caroled at Har Mar Mall. The Glee Club hosted a Music Festival at Ramsey last fall, for the schools in the St. Paul and surrounding districts, and early this spring attended one at South St. Paul.

Many Pleasant Half Time Shows!

One of several performances with lighted batons.

The Ramsey cheerleaders cheered the Ramsey teams on to one of the greatest years in Ramsey's athletic history. They tottered on skates at hockey games, endured the cold and rain during the football season, and traveled with the teams to athletic events at other schools. The B-squad teams were supported by eight sophomore girls, practicing to one day become varsity cheerleaders.

The Ramsey Majorettes entertained the Ramsey fans by performing at many athletic events. They presented different routines, including "Love Potion Number Nine". New features this year were new uniforms and streamers on their batons.

Pep Club Assists Ramsey Victories!

Pep Club officers for 1969 were Vicki Dec, Sue Ring, Paula Lemke, Kathie Harpole and Jayne Jernberg. Led by President Vicki, the club's many activities included the sale of Homecoming buttons, the making of posters announcing the athletic events, and their much appreciated support at the games. Meetings were held every two weeks where athletic films were shown, cheers were learned or coaches commented on their sport. Sitting together as a group, the girls in pep club helped spread enthusiasm to all Ramsey fans at sports events throughout the year.

Many students attended Ramsey's popular Ski Club. Meetings were held once a week at which movies were shown or speakers from different ski resorts were brought in. Mrs. McCleery, advisor, and Dave Germer, president, lead the organization of many ski trips, to resorts such as Trollhau-gan, Telemark and Afton Alps. The club filled the students' request to organize the growing number of ski enthusiasts.

Ramsey's Girls Athletic Association provided girls with an opportunity to participate and develop skills in many different sports. Because of the large number of sophomores who joined, they were split into two groups, meeting every other week. This year, the program was expanded to include some interscholastic sports for the interested girls. Girls participating in G.A.A. for at least two years, earning the established number of points, can receive their G.A.A. letter.

Athletes in Lettermens Club were throughout Ramsey's halls all year. The club established the athletic code, decided on letters and letter jackets, and voted on the Alex Award winner. Also, a $100 scholarship was given to an active graduating member. As a money making project, club members were often seen, selling refreshments, at home wrestling games.

The Rambler yearbook editorial staff worked under a new publishing company this year: Inter-Collegiate Press. Along with the new publisher, new ideas and methods of producing a yearbook were mastered by the 1969 staff.

In the fall of the year, the business staff and the editorial staff went on an all day trip to the University of Minnesota. There, classes, lectures and discussion groups were held to bring out problems and some rules to follow in all aspects of the production of a yearbook. After their orientation, the staff organized itself and started constructing layouts, gathering information and taking pictures. Things got slightly hectic around deadlines as completed layouts had to be mailed in. But, the staff, along with Mr. McAfee, and the students in the photo department, worked together to produce the 1969 Rambler Yearbook.

The Rambler Business Staff worked closely with the editorial staff in producing this yearbook. They had many fund raising activities, such as selling refreshments at football and basketball games. The staff did a great job selling and distributing the 1,300 yearbooks.

RAMBLER Business Staff worked hard to receive second best Homecoming float.

The big news reported this year by the newspaper was its new name. Renamed "Blueprint" after seven years of "Bighorn" it functioned efficiently under the editorship of senior Mark Gilquist. The staff initiated many new policies.

Scope, Ramsey's only literary magazine also "turned over a new leaf" this year with a change of advisor, magazine size, and content. They even changed the location of their Ivory Tower. Mr. Ramseth's Scope staff wrote under the incense impregnated banner of "Anarchists Unite!"

News Bureau kept Ramsey and its many activities on the map. Reporting to the public our many noteworthy events filled in their year.

Quill and Scroll sponsored the annual publications banquet in the spring. The combined journalistic staff pooled their resources in the spring to put out the "Senior Edition" for all posterity.

The Future Nurses of America club merged with Ramsey's Junior Red Cross this year. Members became involved with nursing home patients and retarded children through service projects and visits.

Nurse's Assistants worked closely with the nurses and learned the many simple nursing tasks at Ramsey.

Guest speakers, movies, overnights and Christmas welfare projects were a few of the activities that the Future Homemakers of America Club sponsored.

The Future Teachers of America Club observed classes in selected schools and attended workshops and state conventions at the University. Anyone interested in the teaching profession may join the club. Meeting 5th hour, the members learned the duties, responsibilities, advantages and disadvantages of teaching.

Teachers' assistants aided teachers in all areas of study. This was valuable experience for not only those interested in the profession, but also for those interested in a particular field, such as music or math. It also took a big load off the teachers by reducing the time-consuming clerical work they have to keep up with.

Biology and Chemistry Lab Assistants were an irreplaceable part of the science department this year. Chem Lab Assistants were supervised by Mr. Molitor and Biology Lab Assistants by Mr. G. Anderson. Both groups helped give demonstrations, prepare chemicals, set up labs, and come to the rescue of befuddled chemistry and biology students.

Students Assist

Ramsey's many different office assistants helped the high school run smoothly this year. The High School Office Assistants helped with much of the clerical work and took some of the pressure off the secretaries. Guidance Office Assistants scheduled students for appointments with their counselor. Attendance Office Assistants collected attendance slips, helped write out and file attendance reports, and learned other office procedures. Library Assistants worked behind the desk, checking in and out books, helped shelve books, and helped other students locate specific books. Cafeteria Assistants helped by ringing up lunches, selling milk, and keeping the lunchroom neat and clean.

Hard-working Juniors and Seniors with typing skill worked as the indispensable Dittomasters. Besides gaining experience, Dittomasters helped teachers by typing, copying, and running off dittoes. There were also special projects like typing, mimeographing, and assembling a ninety-two page Swimming booklet.

The purpose of VICA, Vocational Industrial Club of America, was to develop leadership and a respect for work in its members. During the year they attended two state conventions and fields trips to St. Paul Vocational School and major industrial plants.

Members of DECA, the Distributive Education Club of America, were busy this year with on-the-job training, marketing studies, and candy and Homecoming balloon sales. They were also looking forward to the national convention in Atlantic City.

Under the direction of Mr. Clercx this year, Art Services made original posters and displays for anyone who needed them. Then, for the Christmas season, this talented group gaily decorated Ramsey's windows with trees, angels, and the illustrated "The Night Before Christmas."

Behind the scenes for the Rambler, Scope and Blueprint, were our irreplaceable crew of photographers. Experienced in the technical aspects of photography, and having had much previous experience the crew covered all school events from sports to dances. The crew not only was responsible for the taking of the pictures but also for the developing.

Any students who knew how to run the A-V equipment could have joined the projectionists club. This club provided assistance to any or all of the teachers who asked for assistance. Under the direction of Mrs. Eddy and Mr. Hanson, the crew helped Ramsey's Audio-Visual department run smoothly.

This department served Ramsey with their supply of records, films, and filmstrips. It was their job to make sure that the equipment was ready and delivered to the correct room at the correct time. This involved much checking and rechecking of schedules.

The supply store assistants worked hard this year keeping the shelves stocked with paperbacks, pencils, lab-books, or anything else the Ramsey students might have need of. They also sold Ramsey sweatshirts this year. Working in the supply store provides business experience and the assistants are chosen mainly from the merchandising classes.

Many boys, with active interests in electronics, belonged to the stage crew this year. They aided any group needing special lighting, visual effects or audio equipment. They provided the lighting for all of the school plays, concerts, coronations, and other special events of this year, doing a big service for the school.

Something was new in chess club this year! Girls showed an interest in the clubs activities, and hopefully more will join in the future. The chess club promotes chess as a relaxing hobby and an intellectual stimulant, and there is also the chance to compete with schools on a league basis.

SPORTS

In these pages we find a dedication.
 A dedication to all who recognize determination, who include discipline, disappointment and exultation in their way of life through athletics.
 The scores are not as important as the faces,
 and the uniform must not hide the individual.
 For the individual is athletics;
 his pain, heartache, and triumph.
 For his own betterment,
 and hopefully,
 for the betterment of others.

Ramsey's football team, lead by co-captains Bill Green, Kyle Peterson, and Rick Webb, won the northern division championship and finished the season with eight wins and one loss for a new school record. Coach Lars Overskei's gridmen were beaten by White Bear in the conference "Super Bowl" game. Seniors Rick Webb, Bill Green, Harvey Helgason, Kyle Peterson, Stan Axtell, and Dan Baden were awarded All-Conference positions. Kyle Peterson and Rick Webb tied standing school records and Bill Green tied one and established another by catching seven touchdown passes in one season.

The Rams showed what they were made of in the game against North St. Paul. When in the last of the fourth quarter, behind 13-0, the team came up with two TD's to win the game. When asked about the game, Coach Overskei said, "I think our finish against North St. Paul will always remain as one of my greatest thrills in coaching. I think that game, and our entire season, is proof that many things can be accomplished if there is dedication and desire. This is a team we can be proud of."

Rick Webb broke all time Ramsey records for high scoring and is now Ramsey's all time leading scorer. This is Ramsey's second year running as conference champ and the win-loss record was the best that the team has ever had.

Co-Captains Jim Challas and Bruce Lien led the varsity swimming team to an outstanding season, placing second in the Suburban Conference and the District Meet. Senior Jim Challas established a conference record of 23.1 seconds in the fifty yard free style. This broke his old record of 23.2 seconds, established at the 1968 District Meet. Junior, Duncan Kirkwood, established a new record of 2:14.6 seconds in the Individual Medley. Junior, Mark Baden, placed first in the District Meet with a record backstroke time of 1:01.4 seconds. This year's Varsity Team was coached by Mr. Shira and the promising B Squad by Mr. Robertson. Nine of Ramsey's Varsity swimmers qualified for the state meet.

Ramsettes Enter Track Competition

Trying to win a place in the competitive field is Girls' Track. A little less organized and developed, Girls' Track is very similar to Boys' track. The 880 yard relay and 440 yard relay were the two main events at the five invitationals in which the Ramsettes were participants. Being the only team without uniforms, Ramsey still managed to remain undefeated except in the state where the Ramsettes dropped second to Moorhead. Miss Brown has worked for competition for girls and hopefully she will continue.

The team got off to a slow start with a tenth place finish in conference, but moved ahead to capture the district and region titles. The top four-man team consisted of G r e g Johnson, Craig Lewis, Jim Challas and Ward Morgan. The captain of the '68 team, Greg Johnson, was made All-Conference after a good season with the Rams. Ramsey's '68 varsity track team finished third in the Suburban Conference, the District 14, and the Region 4 meets and succeeded in breaking seven school records. Conference Awards were cited to: Tom Reiff, hurdler; Steve Holloway, miler; Glen Boyd, 440 and 220 yard sprinter; Tom Steiner, half-miler; Tim Kobernaut, triple jumper; and the mile relay team of Dan Baden, Tom Steiner, Bill McGuire and Steve Holloway. Ramsey's two mile relay team was the first team in the state to run that event under eight minutes. Also, the mile relay team set the Region 4 record at three minutes 20.7 seconds. Head coach, Ted Molitor had 27 lettermen this season, eleven of which will return to the '69 team coached by Mr. Kent Smith. Tom Steiner will again be a co-captain in '69, along with Dan Baden. Al Arvidson was co-captain of the '68 team.

STUDENT LIFE

Time, and what a time it was;
 a time of escapades, a time of masquerades . . .
 Life, and what a life it was;
 a life of reprimands, a life of epigrams . . .

“An Underwater Paradise”

Prom hairstyles are intriguing.

Tables were provided for couples to sit and talk.

A large pink octopus was the center of attention.

"Underwater Paradise" was the theme of the 1968 senior prom. Juniors worked hard to transform the gymnasium into a mist-filled world under the sea. The underwater effect was given by a castle along one wall, a shipwreck complete with an old treasure chest, sand, and other remnants, and a giant pink octopus in the middle of the floor. Huge, colorful fish were suspended from the ceiling and in one corner there was a small pond. Near the pond, a fountain was made by the use of a bubble machine.

Couples danced to the music of Dave Whitbeck and his Orchestra. Music was also provided by a group of students who played and sang music from "A Man and a Woman."

A treasure chest from a shipwreck followed the underwater theme.

DONNA BUCKMAN—Outstanding Senior Girl.

STEVE HOLLOWAY—Alex Award Winner.

Heat, excitement, and accomplishment were some of the feelings felt by Alexander Ramsey's graduating class of 1968. Sunday, June 2, the first church-sponsored baccalaureate was held at Ramsey. Mr. Dave Phillips, a Young Life leader, spoke on the "Pepsi Generation." Also, twelve members from the spring play "John Brown's Body" gave two short choral readings, directed by Miss Barbara Berg, a speech teacher.

On Wednesday, June 5, clothed in the traditional blue and white caps and gowns, 490 seniors began the procession through Ramsey's gymnasium to "Pomp and Circumstance." The assistant to the Commission of Education, Mr. Sigurd Ode, addressed the graduates, speaking of "The Inner Voice of Destiny." The class was then presented by Principal Curtis Johnson to Mr. George Seaberg, Chairman of the Board of Education, who awarded the long awaited diplomas.

Commencement programs, converted to fans, couldn't completely break the heat of the evening in the packed gymnasium. But still, all the graduates, including Donna Buckman, chosen as Ramsey's Outstanding Senior Girl, and Steve Holloway, Alex Award Winner had a special feeling of achievement.

"John Brown's body lies amould'ring in the grave, a-mould'ring in the grave . . ." chanted the chorus throughout the senior class spring play of "John Brown's Body." This play, under the direction of Miss Berg, and Mrs. Marquart was entirely different from any other play that Ramsey students have ever performed.

With committees and groups set up for all the backstage jobs, the preparation for the play began weeks before opening night. Ramsey students put in long hours constructing the set, making costumes, and collecting props. The play was set during the Civil War, with the events surrounding John Brown's death. As the play progressed, one could recognize hints which reflected today's society. As a unique contribution to the play, contemporary slides were flashed on the screen as the chorus chanted their lines.

On opening night an audience of mostly students crowded into the cafeteria. The play ran for three nights, finishing with the cast party.

Books were traded for posters, and study time for float meetings, as the exciting and busy week of homecoming began. The posters and slogans covering the walls kicked off the hectic campaigning for the five queen candidates: Julie Johnson, Carol Almquist, Barb Olson, Candy Erickson and Rita Zawislak. Wednesday morning the skits, ranging from the Johnny Carson Show to the Creation, were presented to the student body as a final plug before the voting began.

This year, different from the past, the coronation was held in the round. Candy Anderson, the 1967 queen passed on her crown to Julie Johnson, the new 1968 queen who ruled over the Homecoming festivities.

Wrapping up an exciting week, Ramsey TRAMPLED the Mustangs with a score of 7-0 as a record-breaking crowd of about 6,000 cheered them on. The game was started off by a parade of 22 floats, the largest ever at Ramsey. The 1968 Homecoming was brought to an end with the dance on Friday night, a final reward for all the work put into making this Homecoming the best ever at Ramsey.

As Penelope and Ida searched for the missing pools coupon, Willie had the wrong idea.

The fall play, "Pools Paradise," was presented November 14, 15, and 16. It was directed by Mr. Hanily and student director Steve Piper.

Preparation for the play began weeks before the opening night. Try-outs for the casting of the play were open to all Ramsey students who wished to participate. After the casting of the play, committees, such as makeup, costumes, props, and set construction, worked hard and long for many weeks.

While the actors rehearsed, juniors in their English and American Studies classes competed with each other in ticket sales. The winning class received a party.

When opening night finally came, the response was overwhelming. The cafeteria was filled to the doors. Aisles were filled and all standing room was taken. The play was very successful with all proceeds going to the Junior class.

Funny things happen in the closets of the Toop vicarage.

Santa Claus was the "star" of the afternoon.

A children's Christmas Party was sponsored by the Student Council at Ramsey this year. Senior Social, American Studies, and English 10 classes donated gifts for the children. The children were from Our Lady of Guadalupe School. They were entertained by Ramsey students who volunteered to dress as elves, clowns, and that jolly old man, Santa Claus.

On February 17, two German plays, "Rotkäppchen", and "Hansel and Gretel", were presented by the fifth hour German club. The club worked long and hard to produce these plays. Val Ness directed "Rotkäppchen," and "Hansel and Gretel" was directed by Jan Durkee. The star of the first play was Carolyn Olander. The second play starred Pat Scully and Cheryl Whittles. During intermission, pretzels and chocolate cake were sold while die deutsche Kapelle (the German Band) played on stage.

SNOW WEEK ROYALTY: Kay Kemp, Roger Hanson, Duncan Kirkwood, Mardi King, Phil Hey, Bev Beckermann.

Snow Week started Monday morning with the crowning of Sophomore Snow Attendants, Phil Hey and Bev Beckermann, Junior Snow Prince and Princess, Duncan Kirkwood and Mardi King, and Senior Snow King and Queen, Roger Hanson and Kay Kemp.

Besides the traditional broomball tournaments, treasure hunt, toboggan races, snow sculpture and writing contest, many new events and activities were added. A chess tournament with cash prizes was held with Jeff Bryan winning first place. A movie, "The Prize", was shown Monday night at Ramsey and had a big turn-out. On Tuesday night, the first annual Pizza Party was held. An overwhelming number of students appeared at the door, much to the delight of the cooks.

A sliding party and a skating party were held at Como Park. The weatherman was on our side this year. We had great snow week weather. The pancake eating contest was found to be a favorite event among students. Three finalists battled it out on Friday at the broomball contest. Pat Cunnien was awarded the first place prize. All in all our "Snow Daze" were a total success.

The first games of the broomball tournament were played outside in the tennis courts.

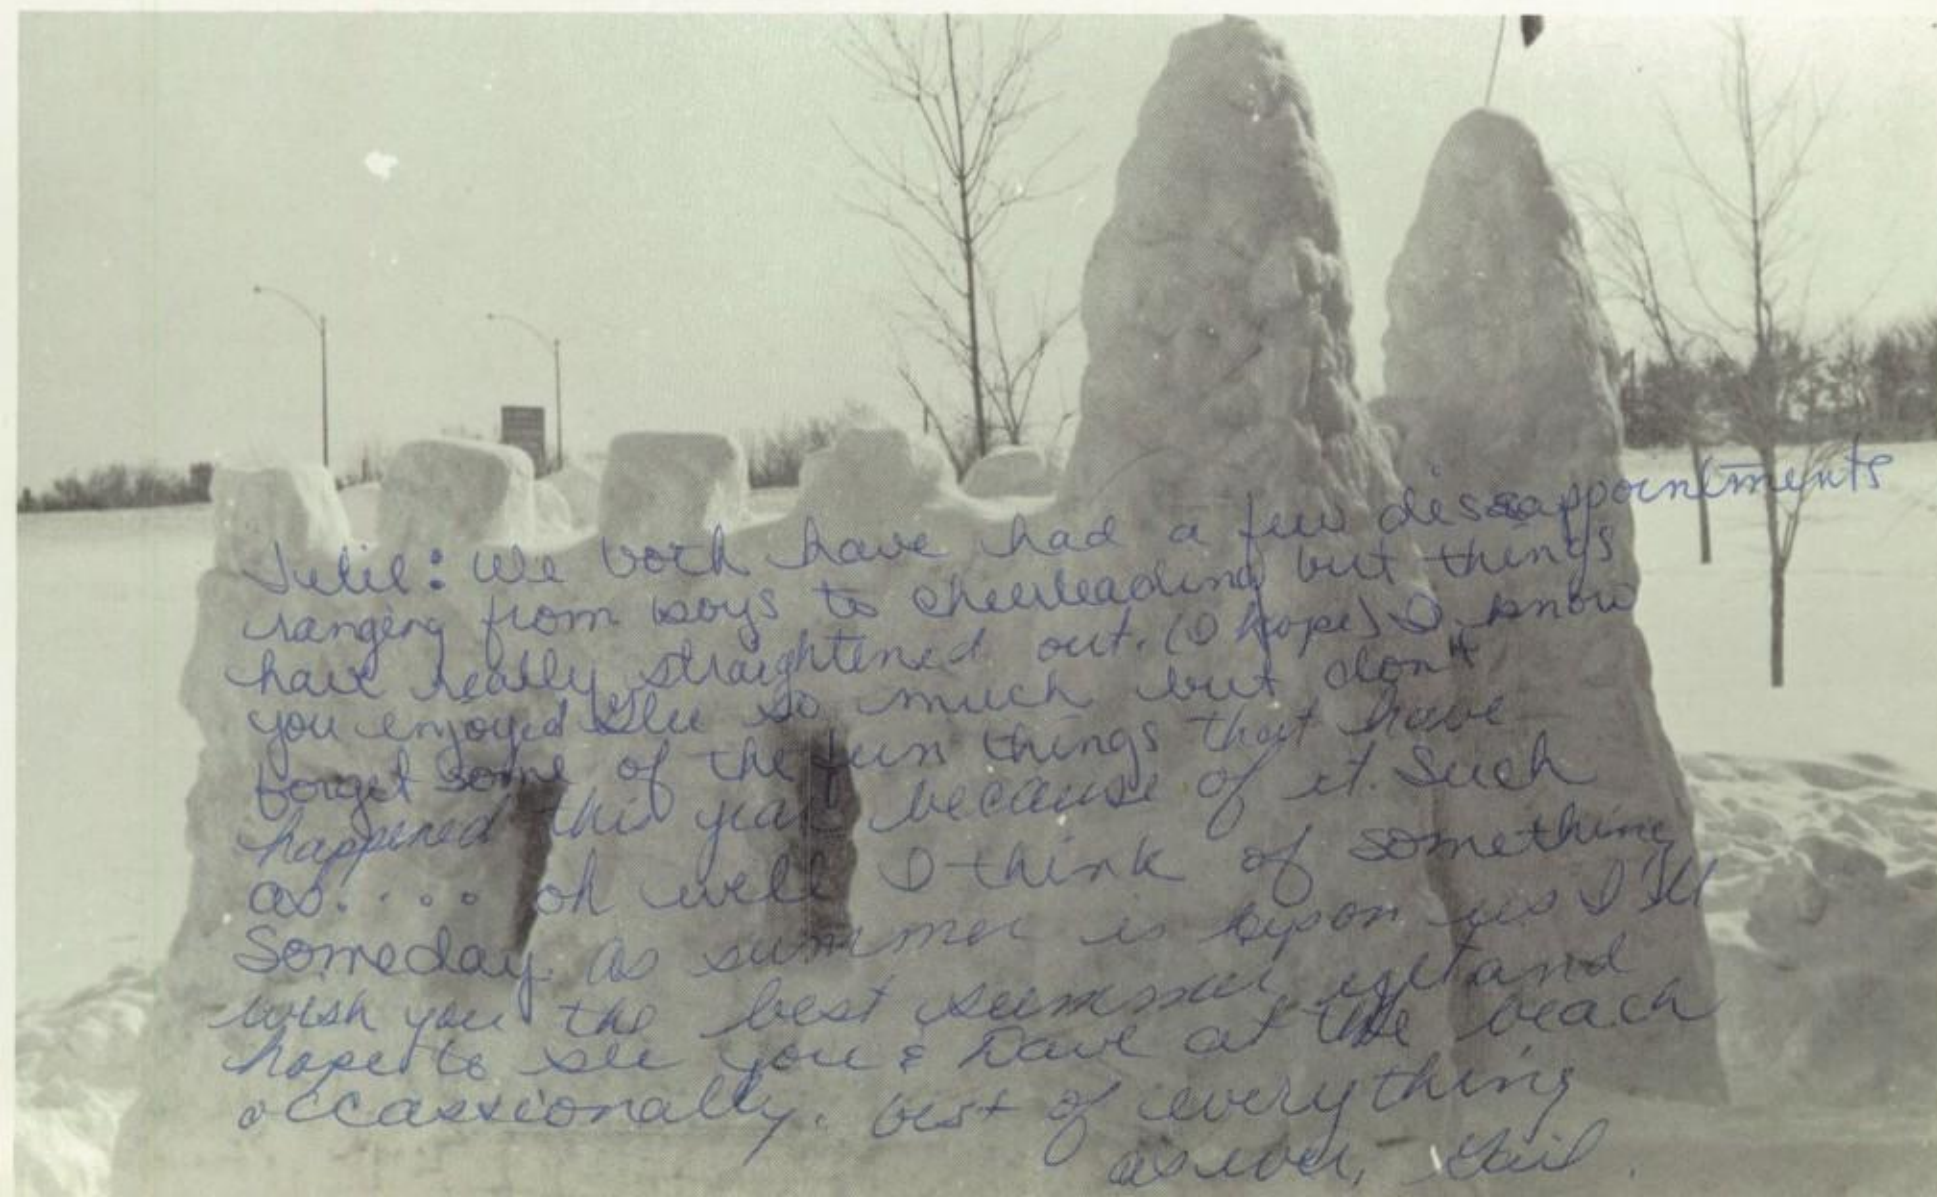

The final broomball playoff was held in the gym on the last day of Snow Week.

The Junior Academy of Science won second place.

a lift that the audience enjoyed again and again.

The theme of this year's Variety show, sponsored by the American Field Service, was "Shades of Blue." The purpose of the Variety Show is to encourage student talent and originality while raising funds to support A.F.S.

Both talent and originality were displayed this year; the show included a folk song written and sung by one student, a comic monologue, and an acrobatic act. And of course, everyone will remember little Toby in the dog act.

Both of Ramsey's foreign exchange students were in the show as is the custom. Victor Collado showed his talent as a dancer as he performed "La Chiracanita." Chris Falk gave some insight as to what Swedish girls aren't really like in her presentation.

Dave Germer and Steve Piper, our masters of ceremonies, kept the show moving as they introduced a modern dance act, a rock 'n' roll group, and a poetry reading. The rest of the show included a folk duet, and a comic dance by the Tippy Toe Tappers Plus One. And everyone will remember our girls in the French Can-Can livening up the show with their antics.

On February 24 and 25, the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. J. Peterson and the members of the student cast, under the direction of Mr. Hanily presented "Peter and the Wolf" to the public. The audience, largely children, sat on the gymnasium floor surrounding the set. The children became involved in the play as Dave Germer, narrator, helped them identify each character with the aid of an instrument.

Peter, played by Rich Thurlow, as well as all the forest animals and the hunters came alive to parents and children during the two matinee performances. The strength of the wolf will not be forgotten as Pat Cunnie, swung around and knocked over the tree, to the amazement of all.

The entire cast and the orchestra went on tour to the area elementary schools where the play was received with overwhelming enthusiasm.

Julie,
 It's been a hard
 year with ya in typing.
 But you encourage me on

 I love and luck.

Art was really a lot of fun this year. Mr. Mc Chesney nearly drove me crazy with all of his smart remarks. I'll never forget Art and all of our talks about Dan and Dave. Half of the time I didn't about know who you were talking about since you kept calling Dave, Dan!!!
Have a lot of fun this summer and maybe the four of us can get together. Call me sometime too. Be good to Dave!

Julia P.
